Fundraising hints for breakthrough and deep-tech innovators

- Sell the problem before the solution;
if there is no need or urgency, no market for the innovation.
- Show your authenticity, build your case;
there is no single winning formula or pre-determined figures to meet.
- Focus on all project dimensions;
one strength cannot make you win, but one weakness may make you lose.
- Take Evaluation Reports and feedback seriously, but do not overestimate them;
they are not binding.
- Provide clear, comprehensible, and substantiated views;
leave no room for subjective reasoning or confusion.

- Inconsistent or missing information throughout the proposal, Pitch Deck, and attachments.
- Disordered and vague Work Plan or Milestones.
- Undocumented risks of investment, recent fundraising efforts, or EIC added value.
- Weak commercialization planning for market deployment and scale-up phase.
- Too assumptive or subjective arguments on the market, competition, or commercialization aspects.
- Excessive or unfocused use of buzzwords.
