Standard scheme of a topic in WP SC1 2018-2019-2020

SCI-BHC-01-2019: Understanding causative mechanisms in co- and multimorbidities

Specific Challenge: The increasing number of individuals with co- and multimorbidities poses an urgent need to improve management of patients with multiple co-existing diseases. A better understanding of their causative mechanisms is needed to develop early diagnosis, efficient prevention and monitoring, and better treatments adapted to co- and multimorbid patients throughout their life course. Furthermore, there are many different etiological models of complex conditions (e.g. direct causation model or a combination of treatment). In this context, capturing and measuring patient's complexity in the context of co- and multimorbidities is crucial for adequate management of these conditions and requires innovative approaches.

Scope: Proposals should identify and validate causative mechanisms (e.g. molecular, genetic, cognitive, drug-drug interaction) connecting general and specific disorders through the integration of basic, pre-clinical and/or clinical research¹¹. Applicants should prove the relevance of the identified mechanisms for (co-morbid) development. Where pertinent, development of biomarkers and other technologies for diagnosis and monitoring of complex conditions in patients is encouraged. A purposeful exploitation of existing data, biobanks, registries and cohorts is expected¹². Investigations include utilization of raw data. Sex and gender aspects, age, socio-economic, lifestyle and behavioural factors and any other non-health related individual attributes should be taken into consideration. SME participation is strongly encouraged.

The Commission considers that proposals requesting a contribution from the EIT of between EUR 4 and 6 million would allow this specific challenge to be addressed appropriately. Nevertheless, this does not preclude submission and selection of proposals requesting other amounts.

Expected Impact:

- New directions for clinical research to improve prevention, diagnosis, prognosis, therapy development and management of co- and multimorbidities.
- Whenever relevant identified biomarkers for more accurate and earlier diagnosis, prognosis as well as monitoring of patients' condition.

Type of Action: Research and Innovation action

The conditions related to this topic are provided at the end of this call and in the General Annexes.

Lump sum funding scheme

- According to the European Commission lump sum funding aims at simplifying funding and shifting focus from costs to the delivery of activities. It is underlined that lump sum funding is not output based and depends on the delivery of activities, not scientific or technical results.
- Lump sum project funding removes all obligations on cost reporting and financial ex-post audits – i.e. a major reduction of administrative burden.

Instituto de Salud Carlos III

Topics in the draft SCI WP 2018-2019-2020

Lump sum payments

- Payment on the basis of deliverables (completed workpackages) instead of costs
- Significant reduction of administrative burden (note: 90% of the annotated Grant Agreement relates to costs)
- Suitable for small participations such as cascading grant partners
- No cost statements, no cost audits. Technical checks are possible in order to verify if claimed deliverables are indeed done.
